

PURPLE HEART

They need bright, indirect sunlight. And insufficient of light can also lead to lose its purple color.

Watering once in a week is sufficient for purple heart. Over watering may lead to root rot.

Application of cow manure and goat manure can lead the plant to grow at optimum level.

Purple heart is considered to be a good ornamental plant for its attractive shiny foliage.

Remove all dead and damaged leaves to achieve

Use good quality potting mix this lead the roots to penetrate easily.

It is done through stem cuttings.

“Go Green Save Green”