

Procrastination

This is probably the most common mistake of all! When you wait until the last minute to start writing, you're more likely to rush through the process and end up with a poor-quality essay.

Weak Thesis Statement

A strong thesis statement is the foundation of a good essay. It tells the reader what your essay is about and what your main argument is.

Lack of Evidence

Your essay needs to be supported by evidence, such as facts, statistics, quotes, or examples. Without evidence, your essay will not be convincing.

Poor Organization

A well-organized essay is easy for the reader to follow. A poorly organized essay jumps around from point to point and is difficult to understand.

Not Proofreading

Proofreading is essential for catching errors in grammar, spelling, and punctuation. A poorly proofread essay will make a bad impression on the reader
